Explains Reds' $1,000,000 Credit Here and Alleged Film Fraud Cibirario Is Accused of Using to Get It

Grand Jury to Hear Facts Prisoner Goes to Court in Limousine; Case Delayed by Search for Evidence

Details of the contract which "Count" Jacques Roberto Cibirario obtained from the Russian Soviet government, enabling him, according to the charges, to appropriate $800,000 of the Soviet's deposits of $1,000,000 in the National City Bank, were given to Assistant District Attorney Simmons yesterday by Dr. William Chapin Huntington. As commercial attaché to the American Embassy at Moscow, Dr. Huntington was the intermediary through whom the Soviet funds were transferred to this country in August, 1918.

Cibirario was taken before Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan in the Tombs Court for examination, but on the plea of Assistant District Attorney Simmons for more time to complete his evidence and find some witnesses, the case was adjourned until next Tuesday.

To Give Grand Jury Facts

Mr. Simmons, however, intends to go before the grand jury to-day and lay before the panel the information he has gathered from Dr. Huntington and others in connection with Cibirario's operations, with a view to obtaining an indictment. It is understood that important witnesses are also expected to give evidence to the jury Monday.

Among these are mentioned officials of the National City Bank, Dr. Huntington and members of the warehouse firm of Gerhard & Hey, with whom Cibirario is said to have stored some of the moving picture films and machines which he had been commissioned to purchase for the Russian government.

It developed also that all this material, about 610 shipping cases, occupying 8,000 square feet of space, was quietly shipped out of the country last Saturday, after having been permitted to gather dust in a warehouse for more than two and a half years. The goods are said to have been taken out on the Luckawanna Valley, a vessel of the Susquehanna Steamship Company, bound for Reval. It is understood that the material is in excellent condition and will probably be rejected and sent back by the Soviet officials.

The reason for haste to get the goods out of the country at this time could not be ascertained.

Attache Waits to Testify

Dr. Huntington was about to sail for Paris on the France yesterday morning to assume his duties as commercial attaché to the American Embassy in France, when he received a telegram from Secretary of Commerce Hoover instructing him to cancel his sailing long enough to give the local authorities whatever information he had in connection with the Cibirario case.

Dr. Huntington had several hours' conference with Mr. Simmons, in the course of which he went into the salient points of Cibirario's arrangement with the Soviet officials and the details of how $1,000,000 was made available here for the purchase of moving picture material for use by the education committee of the Soviet government in Moscow. Dr. Huntington explained that the United States had not yet severed relations with Russia, and the Federal authorities placed the credit of $1,000,000 in the hands of the American people in return for 11,000,000 rubles which the Allies needed for use in Russia at the time. The procedure, he added, was taken as a war measure.

Arrives in Limousine

Cibirario arrived at the magistrate's court in a limousine, stepping from his car with a jaunty, smiling self-possession and dressed in the height of fashion.

Mr. Simmons asked for an adjournment on the ground that he was having some difficulty in obtaining several witnesses. Cibirario's attorney, Herman Joseph, a former judge, objected to the adjournment and demanded to know what the charges against his client was. Mr. Simmons charged that Cibirario had defrauded the Russian Soviet government out of $800,000.
